AP Micro Economics

AP Micro Economics is an interactive, fun class with a variety of different activities to prepare students for learning outside of school and for the AP test.

Why should you take micro? This class is all about choices and understanding the impact of our choices.

Who should take micro? Everyone. Students looking to start their own business or study business in college, sign up – this is the perfect course for you. Or if you are looking to add college credit, this is the perfect class.

Mr. Jaeger, but I am not good at math! This class has very little to do with math. The most math we use is division and basic graphing skills.

Cougars, make sure you sign up for my class.
